

Contact your local U.S. Embassy
American Center or Information Resource Center to learn how you can access eLibraryUSA.

<http://eLibraryUSA.state.gov>

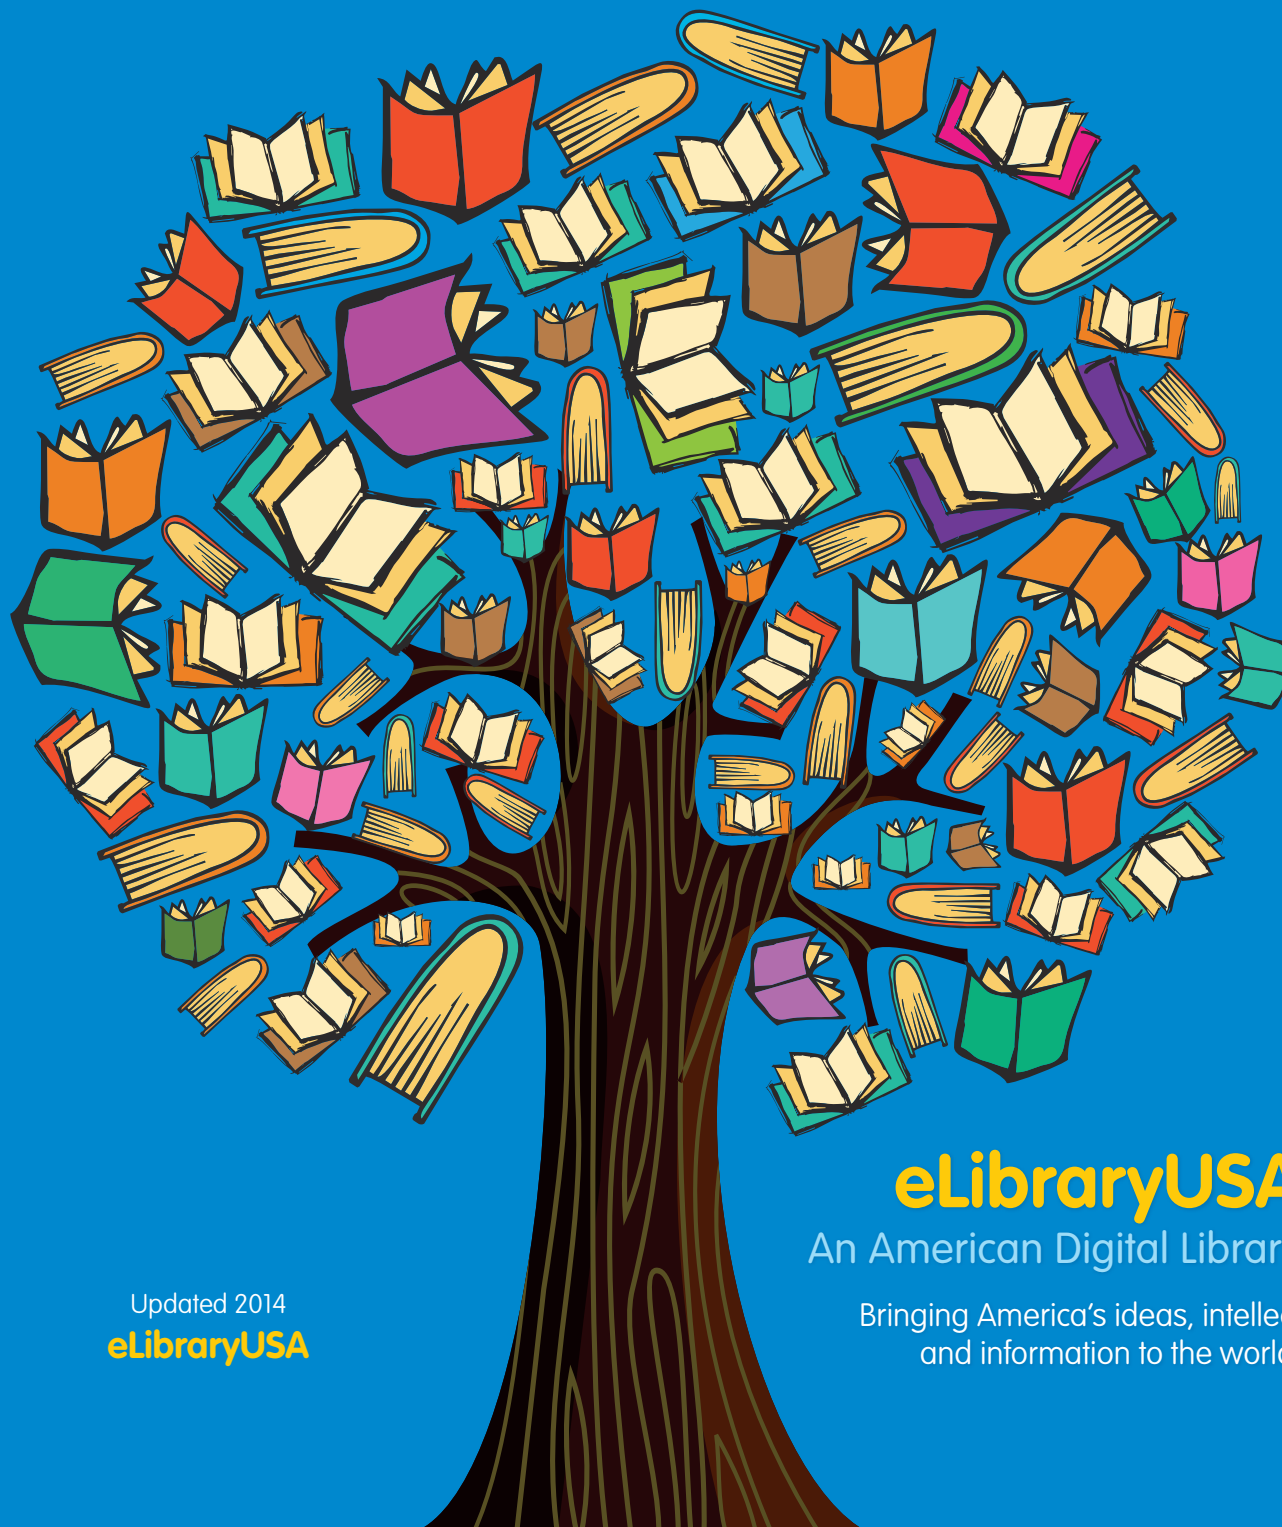

www.facebook.com/eLibraryUSA

twitter.com/eLibraryUSA

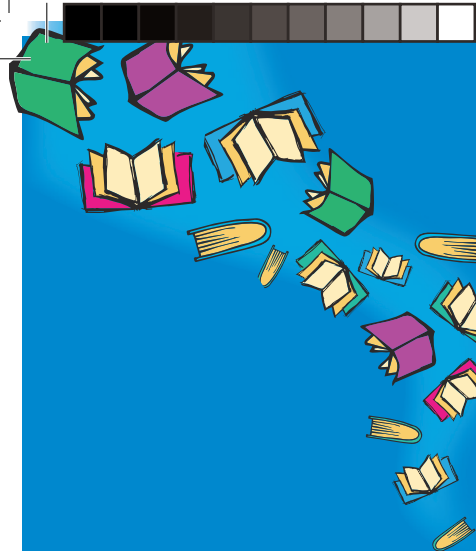

Compliments of Office of American Spaces
Bureau of International Information Programs
Department of State

Updated 2014
eLibraryUSA

eLibraryUSA
An American Digital Library

Bringing America's ideas, intellect and information to the world.

Databases available in eLibraryUSA

eLibraryUSA offers members of American Spaces access to 40 resources for all ages.

Business & Entrepreneurship

Business Source Premier

Business Source Premier gathers business articles from newspapers and journals and puts them in one searchable database. The articles help people who are researching businesses, and are typically written at a high level of academic English. Individual company profiles, which describe the history, product, and market value of a business, are also available in this database.

Arts & Culture

National Geographic Virtual Library

National Geographic offer users the chance to learn about the world around them through its large collection of searchable digital photographs and articles. Browse through past issues of National Geographic and National Geographic Kids.

Smithsonian

The Smithsonian Institution is the world's largest museum and research complex. This resource provides a searchable archive of every digitized copy of The Smithsonian Magazine and The Air and Space Magazine. Users can learn about space, history, culture, and the arts.

IIP Digital

IIP Digital offers users a current, comprehensive look at United States history, policy and culture. Users can watch videos from ambassadors, read EJIUSA, ebooks, and the latest news from the State Department, and receive alerts when topics are updated.

Foreign Policy

Global Issues in Context

Global Issues in Context gathers interesting articles from over 190 countries on important issues that affect the world today. Breaking news, statistics, and world viewpoints are available for each topic.

English Language Learning

English Language Learner Reference Center

The English Language Learner Reference Center helps people learn English. In order to improve their English, users can read and listen to interesting articles on history, books, science, and life skills. These articles are written specifically for students who do not speak English as a first language.

BookFlix

BookFlix is an interactive website to help students learn English. Users can watch videos of children's stories or read books, play fun games to learn words, and listen to audio books.

Science & Technology

PowerKnowledge

The PowerKnowledge resources aim to teach young students about earth and space, the physical sciences, and life sciences. The resources are interactive, and students can watch videos, play games, read articles, and learn scientific words. There are also science experiments students can try themselves.

Gale Science In Context

Gale Science In Context offers a range of information on science issues. Users can search articles, images and videos by topic, by type of science or by influential scientists. News articles and maps are also available.